State spotlight: Maternal and Infant Health

Maternal and infant health initiatives in North Dakota include strategies targeted to the maternal and infant populations include improving well-woman care in minority and low-income women and improving breastfeeding rates, especially with American Indian women. Strategies include the number of businesses who receive information and technical assistance on workplace breastfeeding policies; increasing the number of Infant Friendly Workplace business designations; training maternity care staff with the EMPOWER curriculum; and expanding and enhancing collaborative work efforts with Title X.

Current Special Projects of Regional and National Significance (SPRANS)

Special Projects of Regional and National Significance (SPRANS) funding complements the formula funding each state receives and helps ensure the success of state Title V, Medicaid, and CHIP programs by driving innovation, responding to emerging and entrenched issues, and building capacity for integrated systems of care for women, children, and families.
