Replication Project Readiness Checklist

Use the suggested steps below to help you successfully apply for a Replication Project.

November

- [ ] Identify the key audience you'd like to support/focus on.
- [ ] Identify the needs and interests of your key audience (e.g., surveys, conversations, focus groups, etc.).
- [ ] Look through the MCH Innovations Database to identify the practice (Emerging, Promising, or Best) that is best aligned with the needs, capacity, and context of your organization, key audience, and partners.

December

- [ ] Contact the practice you identified to learn more about its implementation and any lessons learned.
- [ ] Make sure you have leadership support to participate in this opportunity.
- [ ] Identify who will support the implementation of the practice (at least 3-5 people).

January

- [ ] Sign up for an Exploratory Call to meet with AMCHP staff and determine your readiness to apply based on completion of previous steps. Begin your application.

February

- [ ] Work on completing your application and reach out to AMCHP with any questions or clarifications.

March

- [ ] Submit your application to AMCHP by March 1.
- [ ] Read more about what to expect if accepted.

Contact us at evidence@amchp.org if you need help with any of these steps

AMCHP — ASSOCIATION OF MATERNAL & CHILD HEALTH PROGRAMS

innovation hub — AMCHP | Replication Projects