State spotlights: Child and Adolescent Health

In FY22, twenty-three local child health agencies provided child health direct and enabling services to approximately 74,304 children, ages 0 to 22 years. The child health agencies are embedded in the community to link families to medical and dental homes. The child health programs help families access physical examinations, vision and hearing screening, dental education, and referrals. They may also provide gap-filling services, such as immunizations, developmental, nutrition, psychosocial screenings, laboratory tests, and blood lead testing. The program is a collaborative effort between Iowa's Medicaid agency and state and community Title V programs.

Current Special Projects of Regional and National Significance (SPRANS)

Special Projects of Regional and National Significance (SPRANS) funding complements the formula funding each state receives and helps ensure the success of state Title V, Medicaid, and CHIP programs by driving innovation, responding to emerging and entrenched issues, and building capacity for integrated systems of care for women, children, and families.
